

THE INTERRUPTED PATH

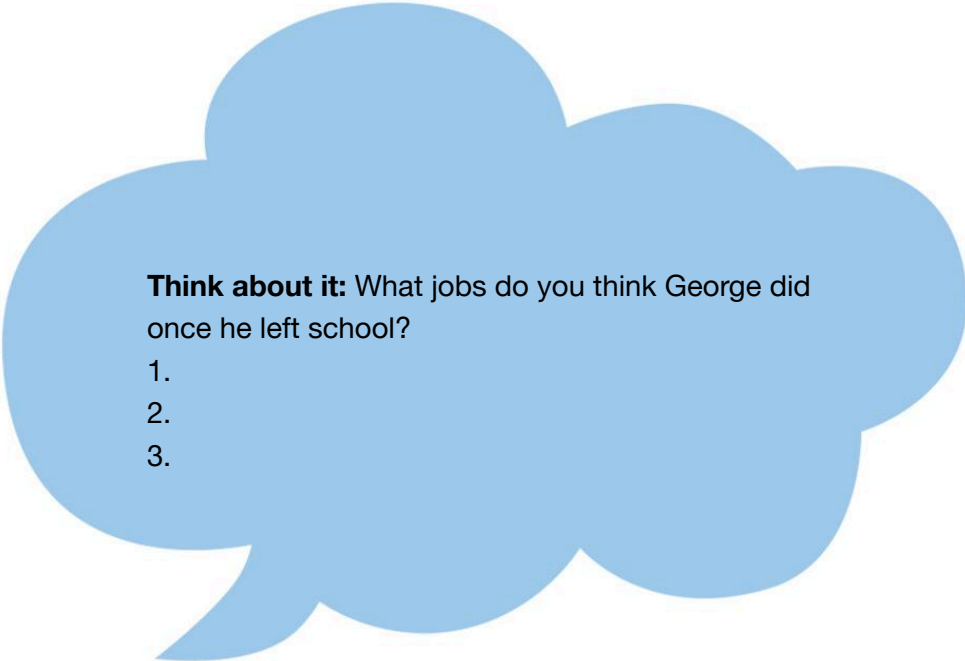

International Property Investor and Actor

George Murphy

WHAT ARE MY HIDDEN SKILLS?

Part 1: School life

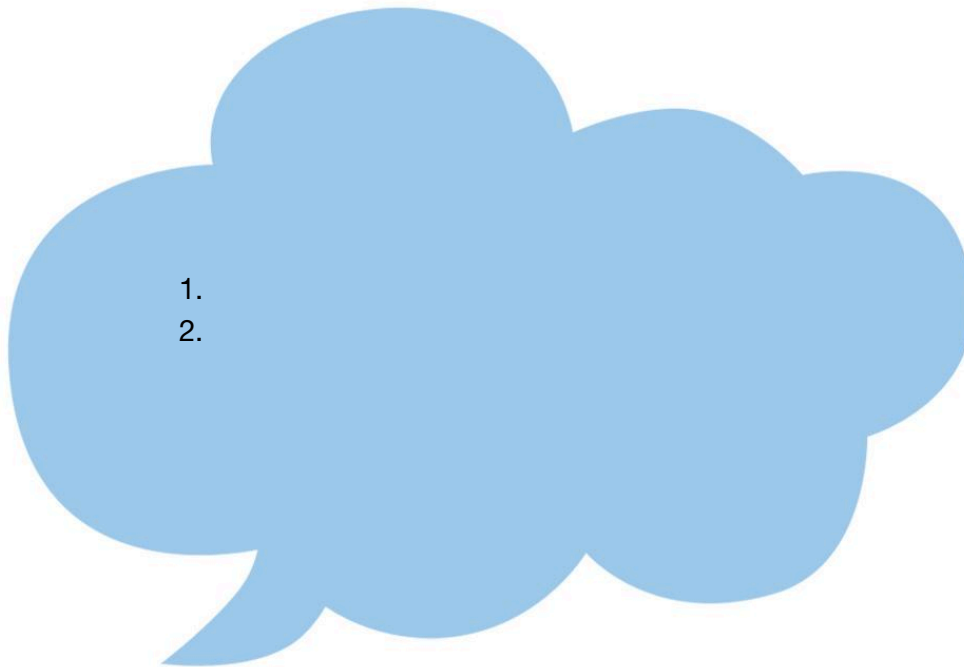

Meet George Murphy. Born in August, he found himself as both the youngest and the tallest in his class, a combination that often made him stand out more than he wished. Battling dyslexia, George faced challenges in reading and understanding his lessons, often preferring to blend into the back of the classroom, hoping to avoid drawing attention from his teachers. Despite these struggles, George had a hidden talent: he was a natural performer. Outside of school, he eagerly attended classes where he honed his skills. Little did he know, these experiences were equipping him with vital abilities that would prove invaluable in his future pursuits!

Think about it: What jobs do you think George did once he left school?

- 1.
- 2.
- 3.

Remember a time when you felt proud of yourself for something you had achieved? Write down what skills you showed in these moments:

1.
2.

Everyone has hidden talents or skills, even when we don't realise it.

Look at the cloud below, fill it up with your skills or things you excel at. Then, let's find out where these skills can take you!

Part 2: Reflection Time

Let's dive a bit deeper into George's story and think about our own journeys.

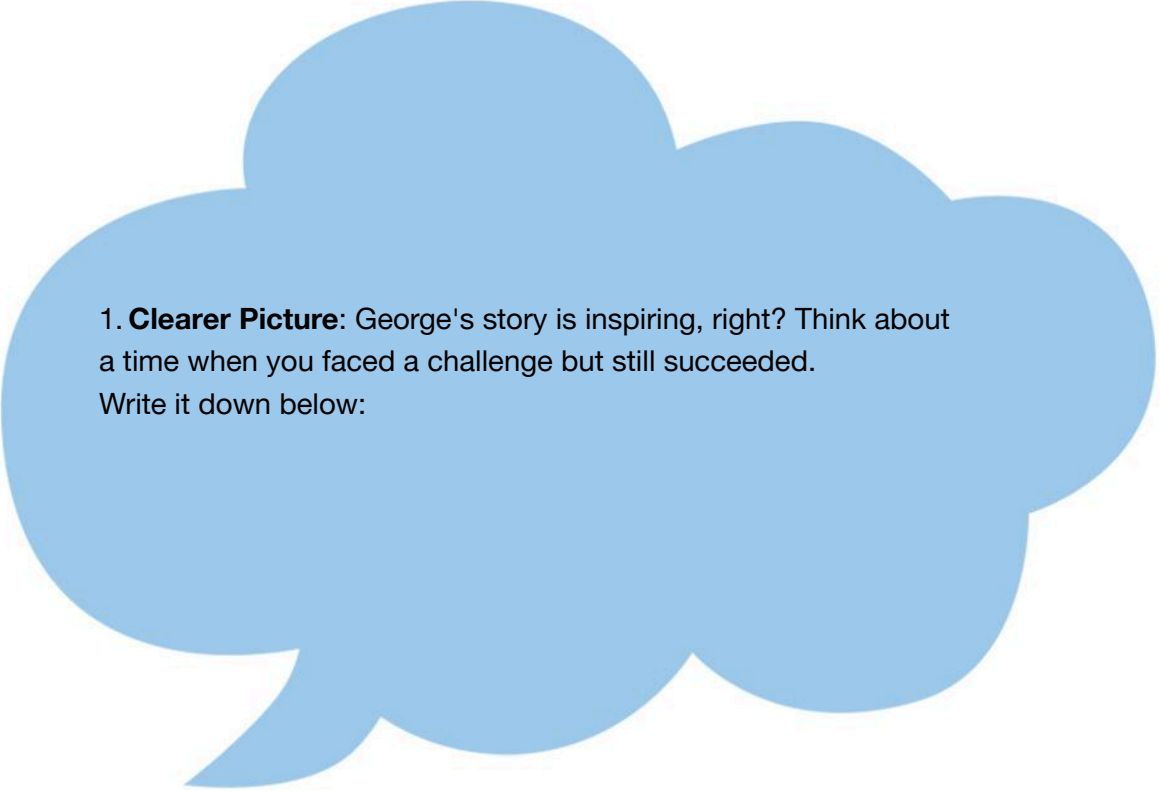

Meet George, a spirited individual whose journey began with challenges but blossomed into remarkable achievements. As a child, George changed primary schools several times. Each new start meant forging new friendships and acquaintances with teachers, a task that required resilience and adaptability. Yet, amidst these transitions, George encountered a hurdle: reading posed a formidable challenge due to undiagnosed dyslexia.

However, hidden within him was a passion that burned bright—a love for acting. Beyond the confines of the classroom, George found solace and joy in the world of drama. After school, he eagerly attended acting lessons, where his talent shone despite his academic struggles. Through the stage, he discovered a realm where his skills were undeniable, where he could express himself freely and with confidence.

Leaving formal education at the age of 15 with few GCSEs, George faced a crossroads. Yet, armed with the self-assurance nurtured through his artistic pursuits, he ventured into the world of work. His first job, in a jeweller's shop, became a canvas upon which he painted his potential. Drawing from the discipline and creativity honed on the stage, George excelled, proving that success is not confined to traditional academic paths.

Embracing his passion for acting, George pursued it professionally, seizing opportunities that came his way. Alongside, he explored diverse avenues, each a new chapter in his adventure. With perseverance and a willingness to seize the unexpected, George found himself traversing continents, investing in properties worldwide. His journey led him to acquire his first property, a milestone that opened doors to endless possibilities.

Today, George continues to perform, a testament to his unwavering determination and belief in the power of dreams. Through the highs and lows, he learned a valuable lesson: that in every challenge lies an opportunity, and in every setback, a chance for a new adventure. George's story is a reminder that with courage and resilience, the impossible becomes attainable, and life becomes an exhilarating journey filled with endless possibilities.

1. Clearer Picture: George's story is inspiring, right? Think about a time when you faced a challenge but still succeeded.

Write it down below:

Hint: It could be a difficult task at school, a sports competition, or a personal project you completed.

2. Get Creative: Let's think outside the box! Use George's example to think about your own skills.

- George loved to perform. What activities do you enjoy that involve creativity or expression?
- George found success outside of school. What hobbies or interests do you have outside of your regular activities?

Share your thoughts below:

3. Dream Big: You've got skills waiting to be discovered! Think about what you love doing.

What are your passions, interests, or hobbies?
How can you turn those into exciting opportunities in the future?

Remember: Every journey is unique, just like yours! Keep exploring, keep dreaming, and keep striving for greatness!